

COURT REFUSES TO SET ASIDE INDICTMENTS; SCHMITZ AND RUEF TO BE TRIED WITHOUT DELAY

MILLIONS OPPOSE MILLIONS IN TRIAL OF HARRY K. THAW

Expense is the least consideration of the approaching trial of Harry K. Thaw. Behind both the prosecution and the defense are more millions in money than have ever before backed a similar trial in this country. Back of the prosecution are the entire resources of the State of New York—the most elaborate machinery for the detection and conviction of criminals in existence in this country. Supporting the defense are the fortunes not only of the accused himself, but of his mother and other close relations and those of numerous friends who for years were allied with and made their money through the efforts of William Thaw, the Pittsburgh railroad king of his time, father of the man charged with murder. Less than a week, it is predicted by District Attorney Jerome, will be consumed in the trial of the case, but in that short space will be waged one of the most bitter legal battles that has ever been witnessed in this country. Ever since the night of the fatal shooting the prosecution and defense have been busily engaged in the gathering of evidence and the preparation of the case they knew must eventually come to trial. The district attorney's office, already possessed of many of the most brilliant criminal lawyers in the State, detailed the foremost of its prosecutors to review and re-review the evidence gathered by the scores of highly trained detectives. Every point in the evidence accumulated during the past six months has been weighed and reweighed. The efforts of the defense have undergone the closest scrutiny. Every witness known to have been examined by the defense also was summoned to the district attorney's office and there put through a rigid cross-examination.

WIFE REMAINS BY SIDE OF HUSBAND

Confers With Staff of Attorneys to Prepare a Defense of Murder Charge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The principal witnesses for the state in the case of Harry K. Thaw, who will go on trial tomorrow for the murder of Stanford White, had their final conference with the State Attorney today.

Nearly all the witnesses who are expected to testify against Thaw had been reached by subpoena and were on hand. They were questioned with the purpose of learning just what testimony may be expected when the witness goes on the stand.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Sensational in the extreme will be the testimony given at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, who will tomorrow undergo a hearing on the charge of having murdered Stanford White. The trial was to have begun yesterday, but was delayed until tomorrow, due to the fact that a certain proceeding in the case was still unfinished.

Handcuffed and under a close guard, Thaw was yesterday taken across the bridge of Sighs from his cell in the Tombs prison, into the criminal court building. But he did not enter Justice Fitzgerald's court to be subjected to the morbid gaze of the crowd of spectators. Instead, he remained in the juryroom out of sight of the curious.

Two hundred policemen held the crowd in check. None of Thaw's women relatives were present, and the proceedings were perfunctory. Of Thaw's counsel three were present—Clifford W. Hartledge, John B. Gleason and Daniel O'Reilly.

The special panel of talesmen are almost without exception intelligent-looking men of middle age. When Clerk Penny called the list of names about twenty failed to answer and the justice promptly fined each $100. Thaw was perfectly cool. His wife had arrived some time before and was waiting in the warder's office. She talked with her husband for nearly an hour. She was still in front of Thaw's cell when the latest addition to her husband's staff of lawyers arrived to call on Thaw. This was Henry McKee of San Francisco, partner of D. M. Delmas, chief counsel. McKee, who recently came from the West, had witnessed the proceedings in court. The Countess of Yarmouth and Mrs. George L. Carnegie yesterday called at the prison.

It was reported today that Howard Nesbit, brother of Mrs. Thaw, has arrived in the city and will visit District Attorney Jerome's office and offer to testify as a witness for the prosecution and in defense of the reputation of MRS. HARRY K. THAW.

COUNCILMAN MEESE TO MAKE BUT ONE FIGHT

Councilman Edwin Meese made the statement today that he is a candidate for the office of City Auditor and that he will make a straight fight for the office. Mr. Meese declares that he does not propose to be switched into any other fight and that if he does not win the Auditor's fight he will not be a candidate for any other office.

SANTA FE MANAGER IS PLEASED WITH OAKLAND

John J. Byrne, assistant passenger and freight manager of the Santa Fe, with great interest and growth. He has been here for some time, and has observed the fine system of street lighting in Oakland today. He says that he is greatly surprised at the rapid growth of Oakland. He is pleased to note the record for receipts. Sarah Bernhardt's best house at Ye Liberty was $2300, but when she played at the Greek theater her receipts for one afternoon were $6600 the largest in the country for one performance. There were 2100 people in Ye Liberty last night, the prices of admission being $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, $1, box seats $2.

OAKLAND THEATER RECEIPTS LARGEST IN THE COUNTRY

Oakland now ranks as one of the leading show towns in the country. The box office receipts tell the story. Schumann-Heink, the greatest contralto in the world, gave a concert at Ye Liberty theater last night, and over a thousand people were turned away from the box window, being unable to secure admission to the theater at any price. It was a wonderful audience;

a fashionable audience; a cultured audience and an audience representing the wealth of the community. Every prominent family in town was represented. The dresses worn by the women were gorgeous and the sight excelled any first night of an opera season. The box office receipts amounted to $2000, being the largest received by Schumann-Heink in any city in this country, and she sang in such places

FORCED BY RELIGION TO KEEP HAT ON

Hindoo Refuses to Remove Turban— No Citizen.

When an alien refuses to take off his turban and swear allegiance to Uncle Sam he is not admitted to citizenship. For that reason Veer Singh, who wore a big yellow turban of the Singh caste of India, was denied the privilege of becoming a subject to the United States. Upon his refusal to remove the headpiece while he took the oath, Deputy County Clerk J. R. Ford had to cancel the affidavit he was making for the man from India.

Veer Singh explained his objections to removing his turban, saying that if he took it off for any purpose other than to bathe his head, which he does twice a week, he would lose his caste, parents and everything that is dear to him; he would lose his religion, the worship of Brahmaism, which he holds more sacred than becoming a subject to Uncle Sam.

THE QUESTIONS.

The preliminary questions were asked and the book was all made out ready for his swearing to the affidavit, but when the clerk asked him to take off his headgear and repeat the oath, the Hindoo refused. He is thirty-two years of age, and comes from Calcutta, India. He has been working in the La Point Powder works, from where he has letters of high praise.

Veer Singh was one of the subjects of India, who harshly criticized the alleged "India Prince," Julius Sternberg, a negro, who, a few years ago, was impersonating an Indian prince with a name consisting of about twenty words. Sternberg was arrested and his identity was learned. Veer Singh, whose last name denotes his caste, visited the would-be prince in the county jail and passed all the anger of the Hindoo hoodlums on the darkey who was tampering with the religion of India.

Another Hindoo who accompanied Veer Singh to the county clerk's office for naturalization papers was Fukur Chand, who, when a subject of Edward VII, in India, belonged to the Khatri caste, which composes the militia. Although not enjoying the privileges of the Singh caste, which qualifies a man for any governmental, military or religious position in the land, Fukur Chand said he was of a high caste. When in the country he was a soldier of no ordinary rank, but was not obliged to wear the turban, so, upon taking out his citizenship papers in this country, he was breaking no religious pledges. Both the Hindoos wrote a fair hand, and are well educated in the language of their own country, and have an excellent understanding of the laws of this community.

MANY MOURN AT BIER OF LATE ASSEMBLYMAN

Great Multitude of Persons Pays Tribute to Memory of the Late John J. Burke.

The funeral of the late Assemblyman John J. Burke of the 49th Assembly District was one of the most impressive events of the kind which has taken place in years in this city.

His youth, popularity, the honorable station he had attained in his profession and as a public representative, his great strength of character and the suddenness of his demise, all added to the solemnity of the occasion. The State Legislature, the local judiciary, members of the legal profession, representatives of the city and the governments, the fraternal societies to which he belonged and a great multitude of personal friends joined to pay the last tribute to his memory.

FUNERAL PROCESSION.

The funeral cortege, which was in charge of W. J. Hennessey, formed in front of the undertaking parlors of James McManus at the corner of Seventh and Castro streets, where the body had been prepared for interment. It started to move at 9:15 a. m., along Castro and Eighth streets, toward St. Patrick's Church at West Oakland, where the solemn and impressive funeral services of the Catholic Church were performed and a requiem high-mass was celebrated.

The escort from the undertaking parlors was headed by the band of the Fifth Regiment, N. G. C. (McBrien's), and Company F, in command of Captain Wetheren.

These were followed by the members of the Senate and the Assembly, all of whom, with one or two exceptions, who were detained by indisposition, were in attendance.

Following in the line were the Grand Council and Subordinate Council No. 8 of the Young Men's Institute, over one hundred strong.

The local lodge of the Benevolent Order of Elks had a representation of forty in line, and Consello West Oakland U. P. E. C.

PALLBEARERS.

The honorary pallbearers were members of the two houses of the Legislature, as follows:

Assembly—P. A. Stanton, Los Angeles; A. M. Drew, Fresno; E. N. Baxter, Wawona; M. Estudillo, Riverside; John M. Eshelman, Berkeley; S. H. Becker, San Francisco; W. L. Held, Ukiah; P. A. Johnson, Fall Brook; E. K. Strobinger, Haywards; E. S. Birdsell, Auburn.

Senate—Frank W. Leavitt, Oakland; E. J. Wolfe, San Francisco; J. Clem Bates, Alameda; J. B. Curtis, Sonoma; A. E. Muenster, Stockton; George T. Rolley, Eureka; W. H. Savage, San Pedro; George B. Keane, San Francisco; B. F. Rush, Suisun; J. H. Nelson, San Francisco.

For Council 8, Y. M. L.—J. F. Mullins and William McCarthy.

For the Grand Council, Y. M. L.—A. F. St. Sure, James W. Whalen, George A. Stanley, W. J. Hennessey.

A long string of carriages, carrying the bereaved family and the friends of the deceased, brought up the rear of the funeral procession, which wended its way slowly along Eighth street to Peralta to the melancholy notes of the dead march played by the band.

AT THE CHURCH.

The body of St. Patrick's church had been reserved for the family and intimate friends of the deceased, and for the various organizations represented in the funeral cortege. After the casket was deposited in the main aisle opposite the high altar, the church was quickly filled and scores were compelled to remain outside.

OFFICIATING PRIESTS.

Rev. Father Joseph Gleason, president of Santa Clara college, the alumnus of the deceased, was the celebrant of the requiem high mass. Rev. Father William Fleming, of Sacred Heart church, San Francisco, a classmate of Burke's, and Rev. Father Frank Long, of Sacred Heart church of Oakland, brother of the young woman whom he was engaged to marry, served respectively as deacon and sub-deacon. Rev. Robert Semon acted as master of ceremonies. Owing to the affliction of Rev. Father J. B. McNally, the honored pastor of the church, he was prevented from participating in the ceremonies, although occupying a place within the chancel.

EULOGY BY PRIEST.

Rev. Father T. J. O'Connell of St. Joseph's church, Alameda, another college mate of the decedent, delivered the eulogy.

He took as his text the first and second verses of the forty-ninth chapter of Ecclesiasticus: "The memory of Josias is like the composition of a sweet smell made by the art of a perfumer. His remembrance shall be as sweet as honey in every month, and as music at a banquet of wine."

Quoting still further from the same chapter: "He was directed by God unto the repentance of the nation, and he took away the abominations of wickedness. And he directed his heart towards the Lord, and in the days of sinners he strengthened his godliness."

The Reverend Father then applied the text to the life and character and memory of young Burke. Although having but just emerged from youth to manhood, he had become a leader of the people when he was suddenly called by God. He was a man who was devoted to the service of God and his country, fulfilling to the letter the motto of one of the orders of which he belonged, "For God and country." He

OBJECTIONS OVERRULED BY JUDGE DUNNE

Immediate Hearing for Accused Official.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Judge Dunne today in the Superior Court denied all the motions made by the attorneys for Mayor Schmitz and Abraham Ruef to set aside the indictments and ordered them to appear in court tomorrow for the presentation of demurrers or other objections that they may have to beginning the trial without further delay. It is almost certain that the demurrers will be overruled and in that event the trial will begin at once.

Judge Dunne's ruling was made over the repeated objection of Attorneys Ach and Shortridge, representing the defendants. When the Ruef case was called Attorney Hiram Johnson, representing the District Attorney's office, announced that his side was ready to stipulate that the questions asked of the Grand Jurors on indictment number 303 should apply to all the others.

Ach refused to agree to this, declaring that it was his right to examine witnesses whenever it seemed to him necessary; that he wanted to get them on record on each indictment, and that he hoped to bring out much new evidence.

When the matter was submitted to the court Judge Dunne ruled in favor of the prosecution, though he said he would allow the questioning of Grand Juror Livingston, then in progress, to continue. Ach requested a five-minute recess to confer with Ruef and Shortridge.

When the three returned to the courtroom, Ach made a formal motion embodying the contentions which he had just uttered.

The court not only denied this motion, but proceeded to overrule all previous motions to quash or set aside the indictments. Ach then asked leave to argue the matter, but this also was refused by Judge Dunne who declared he was quite familiar with the evidence before the bench and needed no lengthy elucidation.

Finally he ordered that the demurrers of both Schmitz and Ruef be submitted tomorrow morning and be argued before the court.

In the supreme court after an argument that occupied all the morning session an order was made granting the attorneys for Schmitz five days in which to file authorities in support of their application for a writ of habeas corpus.

WHAT OAKLAND MILLINER SELLS GIRLS?

Deputation of Women to Visit Dr. Dille to Learn More

"Pastor Tells the Truth," Says One; "Some Milliners Are Sporty," Says Another

A storm of indignation, at what they assert is a slur upon their names and the names of their young lady employees, has arisen among the milliners of this city, consequent to the assertions made by Rev. E. R. Dille from his pulpit in the First Methodist Church last Sunday night, and which were published yesterday afternoon.

The milliners assert that an organized effort will be made to force Dr. Dille to divulge the name of the woman whom he declares advised her young girl employees to lead lives of shame in order to make sufficient money to support themselves, the salaries of milliners being so poor.

A delegation of the milliners will call upon Dr. Dille in the near future and will demand that he reveal the name of the particular milliner he means, so that the reflections which have been cast on all others might be erased.

Of all the milliners interviewed by a TRIBUNE representative this morning, only one of them declared that she was pleased that Dr. Dille was bold enough to make such statements, and she was Miss K. N. Steinman, connected with the Layman millinery store on Twelfth street, near Washington. "I am glad that Dr. Dille has so much spunk," she said. "I know that he has the courage of his convictions and will reveal the name of the woman he accuses when the time comes. I do not think that his statements reflect on us, as we know that we are innocent of any wrong-doing. When I read of Dr. Dille's assertions I said to myself that I was glad that there was a minister who was not afraid to say what he knew to be true."

SHOULD BE ARRESTED.

"That man should be arrested," asserted Mrs. Ernst of 1155 Washington street. "He has uttered a slur, which reflects on all of us, and he should be made to tell what he knows, so that we will not all be under the ban. I have a good mind to visit Dr. Dille and ask him to reveal the name of the woman he has so boldly accused. I know Dr. Dille's remarks are without foundation. I know that I have never said any such a thing, and I further know that the statements have made me very indignant. And the minister should be made to clear the matter up or retract his slur."

"STATEMENTS ABSURD."

"The statements are absurd," said Mrs. L. A. Mason of 546 Fourteenth street, "and I am anxious to know who Dr. Dille has reference to. In the first place he asserts that some woman milliner has said that wages are low. That is untrue, as the salaries of milliners now are high and we cannot secure enough assistance. I can think of no one that would say such a thing and I know that all the milliners about here have the most respectable young ladies in their employ."

Miss Ryan of 530 Fourteenth street is away at the present time and the milliner in charge indignantly asserted, when acquainted with the statements made by Dr. Dille:

"ALL ARE RESPECTABLE."

"I know that Miss Ryan would deny the assertions, as she has the most respectable young ladies in her employ. Miss Ryan is very strict about allowing men to call on her employees in her store or ringing them up by telephone. I would like to see Miss Ryan face to face with Dr. Dille and I know that she would make him retract the slur, which not only reflects on the proprietor, but every young lady in her employ. I wonder how it is that Dr. Dille found these things out, if he really does know them. It seems strange that he and no one else should know anything about it. Unless the accusation is founded on some particular person, all of us suffer, as will our businesses. I do not see why the innocent should suffer for the guilt, if it is the case."

Miss Conley of 1165 Washington street was also loud in her assertion that she had never made any such statement. "My girls are all respectable young women, and are paid according wages I cannot attribute any reason for Dr Dille making such assertions.

Mrs. Clara Stevens of Twelfth and City streets absolutely denied any knowledge of a fourth son for Dr Dille's account. All that she can say is that she employs the most respectable of girls. There are a few millionaires who are very poor but this she did not reflect on.

ONE IS PLEASED

There was but one milliner who declared that she was pleased that Dr Dille was bold enough to make such statements and that was Miss K. Steinman, a connected with the Layman's Millinery store on Twelfth near Washington street. She said that Dr Dille has so much to say about her that she has the courage of his convictions and will not let the name of the woman he accuses when the time comes. I do not think that his statements reflect on us as we know that we are innocent of any wrong doing. I stated to Mrs. Dille's assertions. I stated to Mrs. Dille that I was glad that there was a minister who was not afraid to say what he knew to be true.

SAYS IT IS AWFUL

Mrs. Newman, owner of J. J. Broadway's, also denied the accusation having that it was an awful statement to make and that it reflects on all young ladies who work in millinery stores. As a business woman, Dr. Dille should be able to retract his statements if they are being used as a means of slandering women who are employed in millinery stores.

FROM A MOTHER

I told OAKLAND TRIBUNE that I read your account of the sermon of last Sunday with intense interest. In it I saw a minister making some startling statements reflecting against the fair fame of this city—statements which I really demand that you investigate.

GRAVE CHARGES

Particularly grave are the charges against at least one milliner's establishment in this city. Dr. Dille refused to publish to his loss. However, he said that he would willingly divulge the names to any Oakland newspaper which would publish them. I would like to know if a mother of a grown child in a club or man in this city a native daughter of a rich and well-to-do family of Oakland would determine to do the things she is now to be overlooked.

MENACES GOOD NAME

Until it is publicly proved or disproved the good name of a city in which it is a young girl makes a living is means it is fair to say that they must under the suspicion that they are of a class of women who are not to be trusted. What a sad and in a moral method of earning a living. But a blind—an excuse for a blind.

SEEKS THE NAME

On the theory of duty alone I determined to discover the name of the proprietor who gives the most suggestive course to a girl who is a native of this city. With the view of saving time I called up Dr. Dille's residence this morning and was told that he had left for the city. Here is what was said:

OVER THE TELEPHONE

Hello.

A woman's voice replied. Hello.

Is this Dr. Dille's residence?

Yes.

What do you want to see him about?

A personal matter.

Has he been almost unapproachable since the reply Dr. Dille is out of town.

How long will he be absent?

About a week or two.

Now tell me, if you can please tell me where he is, I will be glad to know where he is and I will be glad to know where he is and I will be glad to know where he is.

MELODRAMA AT THE MACDONOUGH

A Convict-Detective was the play at the Macdonough theater last night. It is a lively melodrama and has many interesting situations. The scenery is very good.

BUSTER BROWN

The attraction of the evening, week at the Macdonough theater is the new version of Buster Brown which is far from being a new version. It has been presented in the history of musical comedy. The continuation of the success of Buster Brown is never to be wondered. I like other stage productions there is no reason for Buster Brown's growing popularity. It is a success. It is a success. It is a success.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS AUTHORITY

City Attorney Says Teachers' Salaries Can Be Altered During Year

Since the additional cost of living the educators in the local schools have at numerous times petitioned the Board of Education for a raise in salaries. The matter has been thoroughly threshed out before the board meetings and it was said that salaries could not be increased during the school year not even at the end of the school year.

Not at all with the opinion of the board the matter was submitted to a legal standpoint. City Attorney McElroy took the case to a legal point of view and found that the matter of changing salaries during the school year is at the discretion of the board with a few exceptions.

Attorney McElroy's opinion was read by the board but not adopted. It was submitted to the finance committee and the district attorney who is the legal adviser of the Board of Education.

Extracts from McElroy's report read as follows:

Oakland Jan 9, 1907.

To the Honorable the Board of Education of the City of Oakland, California.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th inst. and in reply to inform you that the matter of salaries of teachers during the school year is at the discretion of the board with a few exceptions.

STREET WORK IS DISCUSSED

City Trustees Take Up Matter of Paving Certain Thoroughfares

As a preliminary step toward the passing of resolutions of intention for the bluing of certain streets in the business section of this city a resolution was introduced at the City Council meeting last night instructing the city engineer to do all necessary field and office work for the establishing of official curb grades on all thoroughfares bounded by First, Fourth, Eleventh and Twelfth streets and Market and Main streets. The resolution was referred to the street committee.

Owing to the heavy traffic on the streets in the business portion of the city it has been found necessary to have many of the thoroughfares macadamized and for this reason the Council is now taking the preliminary steps.

An ordinance establishing official grades on Sacramento street between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets was passed to print. After this measure is finally passed the Council will pass resolutions of intention and the improving of the thoroughfares which is now in hand will be begun.

The Council last night referred to the street committee a resolution from the Board of Public Works which provides that other material than macadam be used on streets in the business section of the city and that macadam is easily broken up by the heavy traffic.

The returns of the park bond election were canvassed by the Council and it was found that 3,550 votes were cast for the proposition and 4,411 against it. An ordinance was passed to print declaring the bonds void.

Resolutions providing for the purchase of one hundred acres of land in the city of Oakland for the purpose of establishing a public park were referred to the auditing and finance committee. This preparation is used in striking the streets forming a crust over the surface of the thoroughfares. The City Engineer's report was granted permission to grade curb and macadamize Sixty-sixth street from Main to Broadway and the eastern boundary line of the city and John street from Howe street to Piedmont street.

A resolution of intention for sawing a street on Fourth street from Third to Fourth street was adopted.

The following contracts for street work were awarded:

For paving East Fourteenth street from Twelfth street to the city limits, to the City of Oakland, $12,000.

For grading, curbing and macadamizing East Twelfth street from Ninth street to Twelfth street, to the City of Oakland, $12,000.

HARRY K. THAW TO BE TRIED

Sensational Testimony Is to Be Given at the Murder Hearing.

Stanford White who was his benefactor.

POSITION WILL NOT COUNT.

District Attorney Jerome has announced that he personally will conduct the case for the State. The millions behind the prisoner will be forgotten in the presentation of the State's case. He says Thaw will be prosecuted as would be the most obscure member of the community. The direct examination of witnesses for the prosecution is stated, will not require more than a single court day. The case District Attorney Jerome declares, is a plain one of premeditated murder. The testimony for the State will be that of eye witnesses to the shooting. It will be direct and to the point and in the opinion of the district attorney will be sufficient in itself to insure conviction.

The time occupied by the defense will of course be much longer. The cross examination of witnesses for the prosecution will be close and searching and will consume more time than will the giving of the direct testimony. The announced character of the defense—the pleading of insanity and homicide which finds its basis in the ethics of the unwritten law—indicates that many witnesses will be called in Thaw's behalf. This also will occupy considerable time but the attorney for the defense arranges with the district attorney that a week or ten days at the outside will suffice for a full and complete hearing of the case.

SENSATIONS EXPECTED.

When the defense begins the introduction of witnesses for the purpose of sustaining its contention of justification no case of sensationalism in the history of White's pursuit of girls as well as incidents in the past life of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the young and beautiful wife of the prisoner, hitherto overlooked in the mad rush for lurid details will be brought out. Persons whose names have in no way been connected with the case or with the revenges of White or the affairs of Mrs. Thaw, who she was yet an artist's model or later an actress will be implicated in the case.

From the viewpoint of the prosecution the killing of Stanford White was nothing more nor less than cold blooded deliberate murder without cause or justification but the contention of the defense has not been overlooked. Every angle of the case has been gone into. It is stated in behalf of the district attorney's office that should Thaw's attorney attempt to prove justification the prosecution will spring a big surprise in the shape of a witness who can clear up the relations of Evelyn Nesbit and Stanford White and particularly the communications alleged to have been addressed to the woman by White after she had become Mrs. Thaw.

THAW PREPARES HIS CASE.

In his cell at the Tombs prison Harry Thaw the man most vitally interested is working industriously on the evidence in the case. True to his declaration when he was first locked in cell 220 in Murderers Row he will have none of the follies and technicalities common to homicide cases. He claims justification for his deed and will fight the case on those lines. Every piece of evidence that has been gathered by the corps of detectives and interested relatives has been submitted to him for review. He directs his attorneys in every detail of the case. He has refused from the first and continues in his refusal to let himself in the hands of his attorneys and abide blindly by their dictates. He will have none of an insanity plea—in fact he will consider no defense other than justification based on the right of the husband to protect the honor and good name of his wife.

Solemn Requiem Mass Is Celebrated at St. Patrick's Church.

Had been trained by holy men to direct his steps toward the Lord, and he was striving in his office to strengthen his godliness.

EARLY TRAINING.

He was born of pious parents and he never forgot the precepts taught him in childhood and his early Christian training. Simplicity, cheerfulness, kindness, generosity, a remarkable readiness to help, were his chief characteristics at college. His subsequent career was one of steady advance and he was successful in his honest ambitions in the organizations to which he belonged and in the profession of which he was a member and in public life.

As a student, careful, zealous, hard-working and conscientious, he was rewarded with honors for his faithful work.

In his profession he gave promise of success as a legislator. He possessed the confidence of the people and the respect of their representatives. In his church he was faithful. In fraternal organizations he was popular. In the Y. M. I. he was reaping a harvest of reward for work well done. Here in a society organized to make its members better men, whose principles demand loyalty to God and country, he was trained. Official positions he filled with credit, and honors unsought were rendered by an appreciative membership.

The Psalmist said: "Call me not away in the midst of my days."
But God thought best to call John Burke when he was just entering upon the prime of his manhood.

WINNING DISPOSITION.

He was blessed with a pleasing and winning disposition; possessed of a character built upon a solid foundation of belief in God, a love for truth, and justice, and an abiding faith in the inherent or the latent goodness in his fellow men—endowed with intellectual ability above the ordinary—moved by laudable ambitions—strong with the vigor of early manhood; broadening and ripening with experience, he was armed for the fight. His friends and the people of the State considered him an influence and power wrapped round with virtue, civic and religious, still waxing great for good.

As a steward he has rendered his account. His death was sudden. There may have been faults in his character since he was but human. Let us pray for him so that if some debt yet remains it may be fully paid and the blessed words be heard: "Well done thou good and faithful servant. Because thou has been faithful over a few things I will place thee over many. Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

After performing the last rites of the church, the friends and acquaintances and the relatives of the deceased took a last look at the remains which were then carried to St. Mary's Cemetery for interment.

LAWMAKERS AT FUNERAL.

The legislative delegations left Sacramento last night at 11 o'clock in a special train of four Pullman coaches and made an easy run during the night, reaching the broad-gauge mole in this city, however, several hours before breakfast time.

IN CAPITOL DELEGATION.

The Capitol delegation comprised members of both the Assembly and the Senate, together with some State officers.

After breakfasting, the delegation proceeded to the McManus funeral parlors at the corner of Seventh and Castro streets and there joined in the escort of the remains to St. Patrick's Church in West Oakland.

The Capitol delegation was accompanied by several elaborate floral pieces which showed the esteem in which the deceased was held among legislators and acquaintances at Sacramento.

GREAT SEAL OF CALIFORNIA.

One of these was a floral representation of the great seal of the State of California in circular form, resting upon an easel. The design was eight feet in height and the picture, wrought in white roses, white pinks, tube-roses and red, blue and gold immortelles, was really a work of art. This wonderfully pretty piece was the tribute of the members of the Assembly of the legislature of which the deceased was a member.

The Senate was represented by a most demonstrative floral piece, which was made in this city on telegraphic order from Sacramento, the design costing nearly one hundred dollars.

The San Francisco delegation in the Assembly sent an elaborate gates adar of white and red roses, maiden hair ferns and smilax.

ALAMEDA COUNTY DELEGATION.

The Alameda county delegation in the Assembly was represented by a large floral pillow on which lay a scroll representing the "backing" or cover of a bill as it is numbered and its purpose indicated in blanks especially prepared for the purpose. The lettering on the floral scroll was in immortelles and the title of the measure read as follows:

"Assembly Bill No. 354, an act entitled an act to show the love and esteem of the Alameda county delegation in the Assembly for our fellow member, John J. Burke." This title in fac-simile was signed by the members of the Alameda county delegation in the Assembly, namely, John M. Eshelman, George J. Hans, Frank Otis, John W. Stetson, E. K. Strobbridge and Philip M. Walsh.

CAPITOL COUNCIL.

Accompanying the delegation also was a beautifully designed scroll resting on an easel. This bore a crimson cross and victor's spray of laurel, the insignia of the Young Men's Institute, of which the deceased was the grand president. The tribute in question was the fraternal souvenir of Capitol Council No. 11, Y. M. I., of Sacramento.

Still another evidence of sympathy and esteem was a large floral gem representing a vacant chair, which was sent by Assembly attaches.

SERGEANTS-AT-ARMS.

The Assembly and Senate delegations were in charge of the respective sergeants-at-arms of those houses, J. Louis Martin leading the Senate and John T. Stafford being in the lead of the Assembly.

OFFICERS AND CLERKS.

Each of these bodies was also accompanied by its presiding officer, Lieutenant Governor Porter as president of the Senate and R. L. Beardslee as speaker of the House. Vice President E. I. Wolfe of the Senate was unable to attend. Vice speaker of the Assembly, J. P. Transue of Los Angeles, was on hand and it may be said that he left nothing undone to make the arrangements for the solemn occasion perfect. Other members of the committee, viz: Assemblyman Frank O'Brien of Sacramento, Frank R. Devlin of Vallejo; William L. McGuire, Hanford; N. C. Coghlan, San Francisco; Charles Cullen, Berkeley; J. W. Stetson, Oakland; Warren John, San Luis Obispo; Edward Baxter, Wawona; W. F. Lemon, San Bernardino; and Sergeants-at-arms Martin and Stafford aided in a patient and unremitting manner and with most happy results.

Each house also carried with it its chaplain, the Senate being represented by Rev. Mr. Darling and the Assembly by Rev. Mr. Willis.

SENATE.

The senators present were Senators J. N. Anderson, Santa Ana; J. C. Bates, Alameda; Charles W. Bell, Pasadena; C. M. Belshaw, Antioch; H. A. Broughton, Pomona; A. Caminetti, Jackson; J. B. Curtin, Sonoma; G. Hartman, San Francisco; G. B. Kene, San Francisco; T. J. Kennedy, San Francisco; F. W. Leavitt, Oakland; H. W. Lynch, Post-office; F. A. Markey, San Francisco; J. G. IMAGINES HE HAS BILLIONS

Charles J. Reynolds, Blind, to Be Examined as to His Sanity.

Charles L. Reynolds will be examined as to his sanity by Drs. Hermann and Retzke before Judge Harris. Reynolds' mind became deranged as the result of being stricken blind nearly two years ago. He was an inmate of the State Home for the Adult Blind. Brooding over his affliction caused him to lose all mental facilities. He became too serious for the blind institution, so was removed to the detention ward of the Receiving hospital.

Reynolds imagines that he has billions of dollars in every bank, and that every piece of paper he holds is a note for many millions. He gave Warden Jim Page several billions to spend for a good time.

Reynolds is forty-nine years of age.

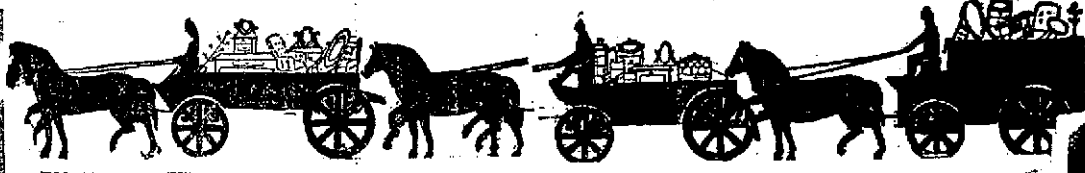

INSANE SAILOR.

Oscar Thorsall was placed in the insane ward of the Receiving hospital yesterday. He was formerly in the Providence hospital recuperating from an operation which brought about his insanity.

Thorsall is a sailor, forty-one years of age.

Only 52 years old.

"I am only 52 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by Good Brothers, druggists, Broadway, corner of Seventh and Washington, corner of Twelfth. Price 50c.

REMOVAL SALE

This is the third week of the Big Removal Sale. Still a big stock to choose from, but don't wait until the last minute—you may be disappointed.

Some dealers do not give the general public credit with knowing very much about Furniture or Carpet values, but the people of Oakland and the surrounding cities certainly were not long in realizing the fact that they had never before been given an opportunity like this. This sale was a success right from the beginning, regardless of rainy weather, and greater crowds are coming every day.

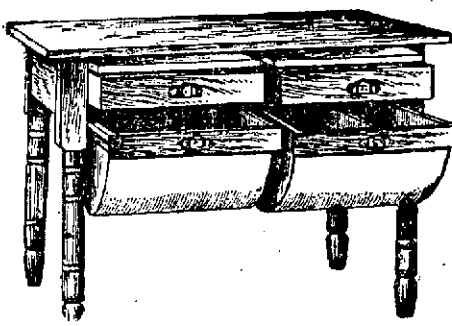

None of our present stock goes to the new store—everything to be closed out before we move.

Piles

CURED QUICKLY AND PAINLESSLY—NO RISK, NO DANGER.

A Free Trial Package to Convincing Sent by Mail to All Who Write.

Common sense is just as necessary (even more so) in medicine as in business or the affairs of every day life. People are getting to know more than they need to. Not so long ago, it was the fashion to make all sorts of claims for a medicine, and wind up by asking the reader to go to a drug store and buy a bottle. People won't stand for that kind of thing now. They want proof—tangible proof. They want to try the remedy first and if they find it to be what is claimed they will be glad enough to go and buy it.

A CONVINCING ARGUMENT.
That is why we say to every person suffering from piles or any form of rectal disease, send us your name and we will gladly send you a free trial package. For we know what the result will be. The Railroads in Oakland.

The importance of Oakland as the terminus of all overland roads, is shown by the contest now in progress between four railroads for a footing and privileges on our western water front. That contest is made in the imminent prospect of berthing Pacific liners in an ample depth of water on our western shore, and bringing ship and car together, which is one of the prime commercial facilities. To secure it European seaports have spent tens of millions of dollars, and the port that has it has a call on the commerce of the world. In view of this, the people of Oakland cannot be indifferent to the rivalry of the railroads, nor avoid attention to the need of giving them all equal privilege and facility. But such grant should be conditioned, and fortunately a condition can be attached to it that is of equal interest to the railways and the city.

Commercial centers of far less importance than Oakland have occasion to deplore their neglect in securing union depots, to which all railroads converge. The roads themselves eagerly seek such facilities, and use it with benefit to all. Oakland has now two overland railroads, with a third rushing to reach us, and the germ of a fourth. They all want privileges in their own interests and those of commerce. They all want the commercial good will of this city, and our commerce requires their appreciation and assistance. In no way can these desirable relations be secured and maintained better than by conditioning the grant of what they want upon their construction of a union depot on our western side, upon the territory that is now the scene of their rivalry.

No city in California has a union depot, none has enjoyed such an opportunity to get one. The land and the opportunity are both open. The will is present amongst the people and can easily be roused in the railroads. Let us move forward now. We have as Mayor a far-seeing business man, and the Council is subject to his advice. Let us cease trying to butter parsnips with hard words, and call the railroads into conference upon this interest, which is common to them and to the city.

We have just voted the bonds for parks that we refused to vote more than ten years ago. A back sight discloses the immense saving we would have made in voting the bonds then. Let us profit by the lesson and not have to deplore, ten years hence, our failure to improve the opportunity we have now to get a union depot.

A myopic critic in East Oakland says the TRIBUNE called Dr. Jordan a blackguard because he told an unwelcome truth. The same veracious authority asserts that this paper apologized for the coal monopoly. Of course the TRIBUNE did no such thing, but declared that a way must be found to protect the public from monopoly combines. We did say, however, that the coal men were only doing what everybody else does under similar circumstances—charge all they can get for what they have to sell. We venture to say that is just what Mr. Gifford does. He is very anxious to do—now—to make the mine owners sell coal cheaper, but he does not suggest how that is to be done. We should like him to explain how people can be compelled to sell their property for less than they can get for it. When he does that we will debate with him David Starr Jordan's virtues as a truth-teller.

A Great Healer Gone.

The death of Dr. Elliott H. Woolsey leaves a large gap in this community. For forty years he had been a conspicuous figure in the professional and public life of Oakland, and his falling away is a sharp reminder that the ranks of the earlier generation of strong men who played leading parts in the formative period of the city's history are growing very thin.

Dr. Woolsey presented a striking individuality. He was a man of great mental force and untiring persistence. With great mental and physical activity he combined a prodigious capacity for work and a close attention to detail. Hence his pre-eminence in the medical profession. He was devoted to his profession as a science, and his original researches contributed far more than the mass of his acquaintances realize to the current knowledge of medicine and surgery. Even his closest friends did not credit him with the full extent of his abilities and technical learning nor rightly appreciate the benefits he conferred on mankind by his tireless efforts to trace diseases to their remote causes and devise methods to erect their cure. His investigations in sanitary science alone entitle him to fame and the thanks of posterity. Because he lived medical science is richer in useful knowledge and the world freer from pain. In the chief centers of population he would have been esteemed a very great man in his profession. As it was, he made himself felt as an enlightening force in the medical profession throughout the world.

Such a man as Dr. Woolsey is not to be measured by his characteristics or what he achieved in the narrow round of his duties as an attending physician. His tremendous grasp of all questions relating to human inhumanity and curative science communicated itself to the profession generally and contributed far more than can be estimated to pathology, diagnostics and surgery. His vigor of mind, his original turn and his enormous industry gave new viewpoints to the study and cure of disease and afforded permanent aid to exploration in the science of medicine. He looked upon all mankind as a patient and he treated it in the spirit of a benefactor. In that light he is to be judged.

By his friends he will be remembered as a man of intense loyalty—a very human man, who loved his friends and hated his enemies with all the force of a strong, concentrated nature. Beneath a rough, irascible exterior he carried a warm heart that beat with generous impulses and a sincere hope for the betterment of his kind. But his mind shrank from no logical conclusion, and his championship of his friends was obscured by no false estimates of men and things. He loved his friends in spite of their failings, and stood with them in the last ditch with an open eye and an unclouded judgment. He was of the type John F. Swift described in "Robert Greathouse," a man who would rather be wrong and be with his friends than be right and be with his enemies in matters apart from the science and ethics of his profession.

A magazine writer says a $2 bill lasts sixteen months, and a $10 bill lasts three years. He must be living with his wife's relatives.—Washington Times

TOO MUCH WATER.

OFFICER—"Hold on, mister, there's a limit, even to the endurance of a lobster."

Tillman Trowned by Carmack.

The drubbing administered to Tillman by Carmack of Tennessee was a deserved one that is likely to have a chastening effect on the truculent South Carolinian. Tillman not only violated the proprieties of debate by personal references exceedingly offensive, but his attack on Carmack was particularly vicious. Although he apologized for what he said and disclaimed any desire to wound Carmack's feelings, there is reason to believe that Tillman thrust at the Tennessee because the Democratic Legislature of Tennessee warmly endorsed the President's action in the Brownsville affair, and commended the Tennessee Senators for supporting it. Tillman felt this as a smart, for he came very near being sharply rebuked by the Legislature of his own State. The South Carolina Senate adopted a joint resolution endorsing the President's action, but Tillman's friends pleaded so hard with the Assembly not to publicly reprove and repudiate the pithfork Senator that there was no concurrence. The vote was uncomfortably close, however, and the tenor of the speeches showed that the sentiment in both houses of the Legislature was overwhelmingly opposed to the stand taken by Tillman. The legislatures of other Southern States have by formal resolution endorsed the action of the President. In these recent events one can readily discern why there was method and vindictiveness in Tillman's attack on his Democratic colleague. Carmack taught him a lesson in good manners, however, that should have a lasting and wholesome effect.

It will soon be regarded as a crime to grow corn. From the grain they make whisky and glucose, used for an universal adulterant, and now the Agricultural Department has discovered a process for making alcohol from the cobs, which are also used for making tobacco pipes. If grape-growing is to be discouraged because wine and brandy are made from grapes; what is to be done about corn-growing? Verily, it is becoming a widespread evil.

HE ADMIRES THE TRIBUNE.

Editor TRIBUNE: I wish to extend to your paper my congratulations upon the successful carrying of the park bonds. Your paper deserves a large share of the success, and it has been the means of doing Oakland a great benefit. I am pleased at the result and hope to see the TRIBUNE grow to 100,000 circulation, which it will surely do. It is the best paper on the coast today, and deserves the endorsement and support of every citizen. There is one thing that I should like to see accomplished, and I wished it was an issue on the last park bonds, and that is the condemnation and purchase of the gore at Fourteenth and Broadway, and straightening Broadway. It would then be a beautiful street and a clear view to Berkeley. I am afraid now it will never be accomplished. As it is now and will continue to get worse, it is a dangerous point. Nearly every day accidents occur at that point owing to its narrow width, and I would like to see it improved. As it is it will be regretted, and now is the time to accomplish it. Hoping your valuable paper will concur with my sentiments, I remain, yours respectfully,

CHARLES M. ROSENBERG.

A Romance of the Railway Station.

In one of the little eddies of the tides that come and go through the New York Grand Central Station, a man and a girl, two conventional acquaintances, are flung together for the brief time of waiting for a train. In the isolation of the crowd and the stress of parting, feeling and instinct get the upper hand of convention; and amid the roar of locomotive, the hurry of eager crowds, and the calls of the trainmen, a little drama is enacted which takes no account of time and place. "Flood Tides," by Margaret Cameron in the January McClure's, is a charming love story, bearing optimistic witness to the fact that romance still lives, even in the prosaic air of a railroad waiting-room.

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then do as he says. Get the best medicine, always. We have no secret! We publish the formula of all our preparations. S. J. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Where Pins Go

An old gentleman in the north of London has been making a series of interesting experiments with a view to finding a solution to the question often asked: "What becomes of the countless myriads of pins, etc., that are annually lost?" As he expected, he finds that it is the disintegrating effects of the air which resolve even these intractable little instruments into their elements. He put some hundreds of brass and steel pins, needles, hairpins, etc., in a quiet corner of his garden, where they would be subject to all the destructive agencies of dampness, earth, wind, etc.

The results are curious. Ordinary hairpins were the first (taking 154 days, on an average) to oxidize into a brownish rust—ferrous oxide—which was scattered by the wind as it was formed, and not a trace of a single one could be detected at the end of seven months. Common bright pins took as long as eighteen months before their combustion was complete, but brass ones had been entirely turned into green verdigris long before that.

LUXURIOUS LIVING.

The fact is the laborer of today has luxuries that neither Queen Elizabeth nor King George of our great-grandfather's time ever dreamed of—daily mail telephone, street cars, electricity for domestic purposes, homes well lighted, well plumbed and well heated, to say nothing of the thousand and one articles that we daily use and do not regard as luxuries—for example, matches. Nowadays contagious diseases do not devastate our cities, because state and municipal laws unite to enforce protective sanitation. Never were homes so clean and well cared for as by the housekeepers of today.

MATERNAL PERFDY.

Sammy wanted to go "swimming" and went to his mother for permission. "You must ask father," said his mother firmly. "Oh, I know he won't let me go," wailed Sammy. "You must do just as father says," his mother warned him. "Well! I sh'd think you'd side with your own flesh and blood, 'stead of a man you just happened to marry!"—and Sammy slammed the door.

PRETTY GIRL IS SUED FOR RIDING GARMENTS

Miss Sarah C. Cowen, Daughter of the Former B. and O. President, Cited by Tradesmen.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 22.—Miss Sarah Cambellina Cowen, one of the most beautiful debutantes of this season and a daughter of the late John K. Cowen, who was president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is being sued by Redfern & Company of New York for $299.25 for riding garments.

The articles enumerated are: Riding breeches, $45; green covert riding habit, $125; black melton habit, $115; six months interest, $14.25.

On the day that Miss Cowen made her debut at the fashionable Monday german, her mother was summoned to the Baltimore County Court in legal proceedings brought by several tradesmen.

As the wife and widow of John K. Cowen, head of the great railroad system, leader of the Maryland bar and foremost political reformer in the State, Mrs. Cowen occupied a prominent position in society.

ANTI-MASHER CLUB IS FORMED BY HUSBANDS

Married Men of Rome Have Come to the Determination to Suppress the Fascinating Dude.

ROME, Jan. 22.—A League of Husbands has been formed here to protect women from unmannerly young men of the dude class, who have lately taken to forcing their unwelcome attentions on ladies they meet on the street.

One duel has already arisen out of their bad manners, a Roman masher having challenged his victim's husband, who caught him in the act and administered a good thrashing.

Husbands have now combined to assist one another in suppressing the nuisance by similar drastic means.

Another topic of interest here is the quaint social war provoked by "Charity in High Life," a comedy by Italy's leading playwright. Satirizing the methods of charity bazaars organized by society, the play offended the patrician ladies of Rome, who showed their displeasure by ironically applauding the author.

They took their revenge by holding a charity bazaar, the invitation cards for which read thus: "A committee of ladies, desiring to show the author of 'Charity in High Life' what the reality is, invite you to assist at a fete, where you may be convinced that by drinking a cup of tea you may do good to those who are searching for work and an honest living."

YOUNG GIRL IS LEFT AS SECURITY FOR A BILL

Fired of Being in Pawn, She Has Her Mistress Arrested on a Charge of Theft.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The Tombs police court heard a remarkable story of how Mary Giles, a maid, had been left in pawn by her mistress, Florence Scott.

Miss Scott was arraigned, charged with a theft committed in a boarding house at 229 West Forty-fifth street. She had engaged rooms there, but when the time came to pay her bill she departed, saying she would return in a few days, leaving the maid as "security."

A week passed and neither Miss Scott nor Mrs. Glasgow, a woman who had left with her, returned. Then the maid complained that she could not pay the bill, as they had relieved her of her cash. The arrest of Miss Scott followed on a charge of stealing French bonds valued at $112 and $75 in cash from the maid.

DROWNING BABE SAVED BY LITTLE TOT OF TEN

Young Girl Leaps Into Water of Canal and Rescues a Child of Eighteen Months.

VENICE, Jan. 22.—Edna Feltret, the 10-year-old daughter of Frank Feltret, was the heroine of a remarkable rescue, when she leaped into the cold water of the grand canal and saved the life of Nora Forder, aged eighteen months, the child of William Forder, tutor to Jack O'Brien.

Edna was about two hundred yards away when she heard the screams of the infant. Running to the bank of the canal she took in the situation at a glance and without hesitation plunged into the water. Being a good swimmer Edna soon grasped the little one and held it above the surface until its father arrived.

VICAR TO GUARD GIRLS IN BUSINESS BY GUILD

Vicar of St. Paul's Church in New York Says Flat Lack of Honor in Employers Causes Step.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22. The Rev. Dr. W. Montague Geer, vicar of St. Paul's Church, speaking from the pulpit, declared the girls employed in this city as typewriters and stenographers are exposed to grave perils through their enforced association on terms of business intimacy with unprincipled employers and clerks.

He announced his intention of starting a guild for these girls in connection with St. Paul's Church, where they may spend their lunch hour, get legal advice as to wrongs that have been committed against them, and seek information as to the characters of the men for whom they propose to work.

Dr. Geer said, in part: "A new order of things exists in business life, and by reason of this radical change the character of the home is altered. How can it be otherwise, when fathers and mothers are obliged to trust their daughters at the most impressionable and perilous time of their lives to the mercies of the hard business world?"

"Girls to whom, under the old order of things, no man could have spoken without a formal introduction or without the approval of their parents, are now obliged to sustain relations of business intimacy for eight hours of every working day with men wholly unworthy of the confidence reposed in them."

"There is peril in abundance in this condition of affairs. And this peril, of course, to be reduced to the lowest possible terms. All sense of chivalry and honor are dead in the hearts of many employers and their clerks. They can be as cruel as the grave to the most defenseless class of wage-workers ever known."

A cable dispatch says that former Archduke Leopold of Austria, who took the name of Leopold Wolfing following his desertion of his first wife to elope with the beautiful Bavarian actress, Mile. Wilhelmina Adamovic, whom he later married, is coming to America as a promoter. He recently has invented a nautical instrument for recording wind pressure, and the object of his visit to this country will be to dispose of the patent. He may decide to become an American citizen. In the accompanying cut is shown the beautiful Mile. Adamovic and Archduke Leopold. They are, it is said, to be divorced.

DON'T MARRY A MAN TO REFORM HIM.

There are few things more generally overestimated than the personal influence of women over men. It is by no means to be denied that occasionally, in individual instances, it is great, even astonishing, and that in the aggregate it amounts to much. But usually it is the other way round. The influence of men over women is far more powerful than that of women over men. It follows, therefore, that the woman who marries a man, hoping and expecting to mould him according to her ideal, fondly dreaming that love for herself will transform his character, and that henceforth his one effort in life will be to please her, and her only makes, in 99,999 cases in 100,000 a great and grievous mistake. "As the husband is the wife is." Never poet sang nor philosopher uttered a truer word. In the close intimacy of married life the husband and wife must necessarily act and react upon each other. No woman is wholly without influence upon the man who loves her, but even so the influence of the man preponderates, and most women are ready to be all things to the man of their choice if so they may gain and retain their affection. Moreover, it is a mournful fact that the influence of the sweetheart is often—indeed, usually—more persuading than that of the wife. In the natural course of things it is the husband who, so to speak, sets the pace for the married couple. It is an easy matter to influence a man whither his inclination leads him, but to influence him contrary to his desire, to lead him against his will, even for his own good, is as hard, or harder, than it is to make water flow uphill. Moreover, no man, however loving and lovable he may be, is willing to pose as under petticoat government; he resents any suspicion, still less imputation, that he walks in his wife's way rather than his own. There is no precept which men are more willing to practice than that which declares that a man should rule his own household.

DIMPLES—BY A WOMAN WHO HAS 'EM

By MADAM PAULINE DONALDA.

Dimples are the enemies of logic. Some say they are the hiding place of smiles; others, that they are the precursors of wrinkles. But, either way, they are the inevitable suggestions of mischievous humor.

The woman who has dimples may be the most serious-minded individual. She may give her thoughts entirely to the responsibilities of life and spell duty with a capital "D." But no one will credit her with it. At the slightest gleam of pleasure, amiability even, in her face, out comes the dimple. In spite of herself, she is the epitome of mocking flippancy. She may be the most sober of maidens or matrons, and with the first sign of animation, behold the dimple!

Now, whether or not the dimple be the result of the pressure of Cupid's finger—and his fingers are constantly meddling with other people's affairs, as everybody knows—it is quite certain that the wayward depression in the cheeks has an effect upon the eyes.

Possibly the hide-and-seek methods of the dimple have excited the eye's curiosity, and it is the sparkle consequent upon the excitement of the chase that betrays itself. However, the dimple and the sparkle are coincidental, and the result is—the coquette. It is doubtless a slander upon the character of the victim, but few stop to analyze the total depravity of the dimple. To the world at large it is merely an dent of nature, accentuating a disposition toward the joys of life.

The dimple is to the unthinking the indication of the trifle, to whom every—

ON THE THRESHOLD.

Linger as I reach the opening door,

Ah! what lies beyond its portal dim?

The feeble light I bear but marks the more

The lengthening shadows on the path within.

The true I cannot tell what joy or hope

Will meet me, or it may be grief or fear,

As step by step my stumbling way I grope

Along the tortuous windings of the year.

This flickering lamp can surely never reveal

What bend or curve keeps hidden from my sight,

But yet to lasting faith rings out the peal:

Each step will bring sufficient strength and light.

At most a few more days, or months or years,

Be rough or smooth for me the road of fate

Until the welcome call falls on my ears:

"Enter my child, within the Golden Gate."

—A. McCallum.

thing is but food for laughter. The attributes of the will-o'-the-wisp go with it. It is a whimsical insincerity.

To subdue it wholly is, of course, out of the question. To keep it even tolerably within bounds requires constant watchfulness. It may fit into sight when you commiserate your best friend on the demise of a rich relative or dance in and out of your cheek while you are remonstrating with the cook for the cold potatoes served at dinner. What is argument in the face of a perverse dimple?

And if it is a thorn in the side—rather the cheek—of the layman, consider what the artist suffers! The dimple absolutely refuses to yield to stage requirements.

Let me but relax for an instant in "Marguerite" and out would come a riotous dimple to poke fun at my grief. I have only one role to which it is happily attuned.

As Zerlina in "Don Giovanni" I may assume my dimple with my costume with perfect security that it can do no damage. Zerlina is a pleasantly inconsequent young person who may associate with a dimple without injuring her reputation.

CHIMNEY SWEEP SITS AT TABLE WITH A PRINCESS

Louise of Schleswig-Holstein Plays the Hostess to a Laborer at Luncheon in London.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A princess, taking tea with a chimney sweep, was the unusual scene at the St. Mary-at-Hill parsonage when "Doll Sunday" was celebrated at the church.

The royal lady was Princess Louise of Schleswig-Holstein, King Edward's niece, who takes an interest in the work done in this poor parish by the rector, the Rev. Wilson Cardile.

After the services, when the congregation are expected to contribute dolls for the poor children of the parish, the rector invited the Princess to tea, and at the homely tea table, Charles Hart, sweeper of chimneys, had the honor of being presented to a real princess.

The Princess presided at the tea table, and soon put the embarrassed chimney sweep at his ease by sympathetic questions as to his family and his trade. She asked him to explain his method of work, which he did to the smallest detail.

Hart is now the proudest man in Hoxton, the East End quarter, where he lives.

BURGLAR IS LANDED IN A CELL BY A NERVY GIRL

Young Woman Leads Police to Basement, Where Man Is Caught in Act of Looting a Trunk.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Marie Ellison, nervy and pretty, discovered a burglar in the cellar of the building at 1983 Broadway, where she is employed, and caused his arrest. She summoned two policemen, led them into the cellar, pointed out the thief, and told them to do their duty. They did, and the prisoner, who said he was Matthew McNally, 18 years old, of 513 West Fifty-ninth streets, was arrested and locked up.

The cellar is occupied by John Rooney, as a bicycle and general repair shop. Rooney locked up and went home at 6 o'clock. An hour later, Marie heard strange noises underneath her. She thought of burglars and hurried to the West Sixty-eighth-street station, where she told her suspicion to Sergeant Stephenson. Detectives Tobin and Cummings went back with the girl to Rooney's shop. They found the cellar door had been forced, and entered the shop. Marie went in with them, and when the detectives flashed their lanterns into the dark corner, they discovered McNally, bending over a trunk, the lid of which had been broken open.

"There he is," said Marie. McNally surrendered. In his pockets were found bicycle parts, fountain pens and a bronze medal, given to E. S. Edwards in 1893 by the New York Wheelmen for completing one hundred century runs.

BRIDE SELLS HER HONOR TO ASSIST HER HUSBAND

Wife of New York Youth Takes to the Streets When Couple's Money Is All Out.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Mabel Rothenberg, seventeen years old, daughter of a respectable and fairly well-to-do family of Oakland, was a prisoner before Magistrate Gallagher, charged with having run away from home and with being a habitue of the tenderloin colony. She was arrested after having entered a hotel with a man. Her mother, Mrs. Sarah J. Warren, saw her enter and notified the police.

The girl met Harry Rothenberg, a good-looking New York youth, not more than 26 years old, stepson of Samuel Leiders, a wealthy contractor, who is one of the builders of the New York East River tunnel, and on September 6 they went to Baltimore and were married. The young man had $1000. Six weeks later they came here to live and Mabel's parents, who had heard of her marriage, sent word that forgiveness and a home awaited her, but the youthful husband was too proud to accept.

Rothenberg failed to procure a position, and they found themselves face to face with starvation and eviction. The bride's father stood ready at any time to give his son-in-law a position and provide them with a pleasant home, but the girl became one of the unfortunates who traverse the streets and turned her earnings over to her husband, the Magistrate was told.

The husband appeared at the hearing. "There is only one place for you," the Magistrate told him, "and that is the House of Correction. Six months. Take him away."

The mother turned to her daughter. "Mabel, come home with me. Forget what has happened and we will begin a new life," she urged; but her sobbing voice fell upon ears of stone. Mabel did not flinch and the Magistrate looked on in silence. All the pity and sorrow he felt for the girl vanished.

"You are more cruel than I had reason to believe. You are worse than your husband," was the Magistrate's comment. "Since you won't go home to your parents we will provide a home for you. I'll sentence you to the House of Correction for one year."

Mrs. James Bryce, wife of the new British Ambassador to the United States, whose picture here appears, is likely to become an important figure in the social life of Washington. She was a Miss Marion Ashton before she married Mr. Bryce in 1889. Her social successes in London have been great. She has a fine charm of manner and is a famous hostess.

LOUISE JONES AGAIN CHAMPION

Regains Laurels at Piedmont Rink In Contest With Miss Tiny Gray.

Miss Louise Jones, who for long held the title of woman champion of the Pacific Coast, only to lose it a few weeks ago to Miss Tiny Gray, last night regained her proud position at the head of the feminine column by defeating her late conqueror and rival in an interesting but one-sided contest of one mile at the Piedmont rink. Evidently determined to show her antagonist that she was not at her best when she was defeated recently, Miss Jones, after a few rounds of apparently even warfare, took a sudden spurt and left Miss Gray far in the rear. Never once after that, did the temporary champion have a chance to approach the other and Miss Jones won without trouble.

SPORTS EDITED BY EDIE SMITH

RACE RESULT AND PADDOCK PUFFS

AT LOCAL TRACK

By LEE DEMIER.

An unusually large gathering was on hand at Williams Park Monday afternoon. Two maiden sprinters, three colts and one purse race were down for decision, and with the fields filled to the limit, choices and good things were numerous, and business in the betting market brisk. Form was not up to the standard, owing to the mediocre class of horses entered, but with ideal California weather to add warmth and beauty to the scene, the afternoon proved a most enjoyable one.

FIRST RACE—Jockey McBride must certainly possess a charmed life, as how he escaped serious injury in the day's opener is one of the mysteries of turfdom. He had the lead up on Frankie Noy's bay filly Parcel, and when turning for home got caught in a jam and was thrown from his saddle. He clung to the filly's neck and they raced down the stretch in this manner passed the judges stand and on to the first turn before one of the track attendants stopped her. When they returned to the judges stand, the jockey was loudly cheered for his lucky escape. The winner turned up in President William's day wait Altitude at the pleasing odds of 12 to 1. Bonheur, the heavily played favorite was second and Billy Myer third.

SECOND RACE—Poinsetta had the speed of her field in maiden three-year-old event, and ably aided by A. Brown was the one to gratify. The filly was as good as 6 to 1 in the betting and was never in trouble. Joyful hung on gamely and secured second place from Calender. Ella True had her speed but chucked it up as usual.

THIRD RACE—One of the hottest things of the season 2 ago went was Ella James. Carrying tons of money the Griffin mare was no doubt best, but was poorly ridden throughout, and at the end, Horner could not stop her straight, allowing her to avenge badly, just losing the decision by a short head to Santa Ray. The latter at 2 to 1 was off well, set the pace during the game, and won by a comfortable margin.

FOURTH RACE—The mile and one furlong event saw the read hot favorite Lazell, and the fourth of the day, go down to defeat. Miller, no doubt, thought he had the race won and was caught napping at the finish by Iris. The latter was really out in the first part, but came into a cyclone at the finish and just nosed out the favorite in the last jump. Isabella grabbed the little end of the purse.

FIFTH RACE—Captain Burnett at the juicy odds of 20 to 1 annexed the purse in the one mile dash. The gelding was always up and things tick stood the pacemaker when his rider let him down. Invader closed strong and grabbed place money from Wenrick. Dolla, the heavy favorite, played first class, made a full showing.

SIXTH RACE—The first favorite to bring joy to the hearts of form players was Blondy. The three-year-old gelding long hard drive and in a heart-disease finish just got up to win by a head. Hedgerthorn ran an impressive race and got the place from Borgan.

Bill Curtis handed three winners to his many clients yesterday—Poinsetta, Blondy and Santa Ray. The latter his best bet.

An excellent card is offered race goers at Williams Park today and with the fine weather prevailing a large crowd is sure to be in attendance.

The feature event is the Promenade Handicap at six and a half furlongs for three-year-olds and upwards. Some clever sprinters are carded to meet including Collector Jessup, Joe Coyne, Escamado and Hector.

Another good field will face the barrier in the sixth race at a mile. Among the entries being: Rubric, Jucund, Fulletta, Kamus, Ocean Shore and Bolman.

Jockey Horner, who had the mount on Edith James, must have gotten stage fright, the way he scrambled the eggs at the finish.

The New York crowd unloaded on Blondy to capture the closing race. Their money was never in doubt.

Lord of the Vale was nibbled at, but that was all.

The colors of Thomas H. Williams were again seen in front when Altitude won the baby race, which was the first race on the card.

Iras, with Kirschbaum in the boot, upset the talent in the mile affair.

The Oakland contingent, headed by Jack Crane, bought up all the pasted-back to show on Isabella, and they cashed.

INVESTMENTS

$650 a Month

Located at S. W. Corner Seventh and Webster.

$65,000 under a cash bonded lease for five years and only $650 per foot for this corner, 100 feet square, right in the center of Oakland. LESS THAN HALF PRICE compared with other cities. It is doubtful whether this property could be duplicated in any other city in the United States of like importance for less than $1500 per foot.

STUDY THE MAP OF GREATER OAKLAND

then investigate the many substantial improvements that are being made in this vicinity and in Oakland generally and then decide for yourself what you think this property will be worth one year from today. The ground is fully covered with substantial and almost new buildings of eight stores and forty rooms. There is also a first-class artesian well which will supply water for the entire property. This property is located at the junction of the S. P. local lines, which are to be changed immediately to a modern electric system. We will give $1000 for an option of ninety days to resell this at an advance $10,000.

$40,000 Lot 25 x 100, fully covered with modern improvements, consisting of a store-room with a full-sized cement basement and two floors of apartments under lease at an average of $360 per month for three years. The owner has been offered $460 since making the lease. The building is new, thorough Franklin, No district in agent for the Blake & Mo the property at Eleventh property we offer here is SOLD ing. The many other improvements that are going on in this immediate vicinity will no doubt bring the value of this property up to $50,000 or $60,000 within ninety days and we would be glad to relist it for sale. No doubt we would be able to sell it at a handsome advance.

Cheapest Inside Building Site in Oakland

$32,500 lot 50x100, on the south side of Tenth street, between Washington and Clay, 75 feet from the property of the Owl Drug Store. The corner next to this on Clay street is held at about double the price of this property. In fact, there is no other property on this street as well located that can be had at anything like this price. We have a short option on it, and if it is not sold in a few days the price will be materially advanced. The improvements are old and of not much value, but are paying about bank interest on the investment at present.

$22,000 Northwest corner of Eighth and Market, 100x125 feet, with two-story ten-room house. This has long been a business district and has improved very much lately. It is only one block from the S. P. broad gauge station. Market street is a very wide and prominent thoroughfare, and is bound to become a business street from the water front to San Pablo avenue.

$17,500 Lot 75x100 on Fifteenth street near Brush, covered with flats and cottages, bringing a rental of $140 a month. This property is located in a district which is not only very desirable for residence purposes but is so close to the new business center that it has immediate prospects of becoming business property, thereby netting the buyer a very material increase on the investment in addition to the income.

Telegraph Avenue Property

$12,500 has advanced more in the last thirty days than any other property in town. There is a very strong demand for anything on the avenue. We have a lot 30x122½ on the east side of Telegraph, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, with a pair of modern flats and a barn, renting for $100 per month. We can sell this now at $12,500. Our contract on this is short. This is only about $300 a foot for the ground and the owner of the lot between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets refused last week $700 a foot for his property there. If that is worth $700 this must be cheap at the price we are asking.

GOOD SMALL INVESTMENTS

$11,500 Lot 100x100 located in one of the most desirable sections of East Oakland occupied by five new cottages which we will guarantee to rent for a total of $140 per month. We have just completed and sold five others like these which are rented at this figure. This makes a first-class income property, as the buildings are all new and there will be no expense for repairing for some time.

$10,500 Corner of Eighth and Alice, 50x100, occupied by two substantial cottages rented to Chinese at $80 per month. This is located right in the new wholesale district. These buildings could be raised and a splendid store or warehouse put on the ground floor, thereby making a very valuable property. This price has been made very low in order to have a quick sale, as the owner needs the money for other purposes.

$8,500 Lot 50x125, high-class flat building, two flats, five and six rooms. The owner occupies one at present. The two would rent for $90 per month. This property is located on Elm street between Edward and Thirty-fourth streets, which is a very desirable residence section.

$8,000 On lot 50x134, a new two-story building, consisting of three flats rented at $100. This is located near Thirty-eighth and Telegraph and it is very difficult to find property as well located paying the percentage that this does.

$5,500 Corner 75x75 with two six-room flats and three five-room flats, rented now at $70 per month, which is the old rent, as it has not been raised for several years. This property is in East Oakland, convenient to car line, local train, factories, etc., which give employment to the working people in that district. This property should never be without tenants.

$5,000 Lot 44x122 on Park street, Alameda, only one block from the business center and from the S. P. local station, with three flats of seven, four and three rooms, respectively, which will rent for $75.

$3,000 Lot 33½x75, two-story building, consisting of three flats of five rooms, rented for $40 per month, located in East Oakland in a desirable renting district.

We have a very large list of residence properties ranging in price from $1700 to $25,000. All properties on our list are under EXCLUSIVE CONTRACT so we know we can deliver them without the price being advanced. Call at our office and see the many residence houses we have for sale and we will have the salesmen drive you out and show you the properties.

Watch this page every day during the coming year for the best buys to be had in Oakland real estate.

SULLIVAN COMPANY TO MEET OBLIGATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The creditors of the Sullivan Trust Company have been assured by the new vice-president and general manager, Alexander Russell, that the company's every obligation will be met, and no one will suffer any loss. Russell arrived here yesterday from Goldfield, and was in conference in the afternoon with local mining stock brokers, the principal creditors of the company, who agreed to settlements based on payments at the end of from two to four months.

The assets of the Sullivan Company, according to Russell, are $1,500,000, while their liabilities are but $300,000, which, as he states, leaves the company amply provided with funds with which to meet its obligations.

MERCHANT DROPS DEAD IN ALAMEDA

ALAMEDA, Jan. 22.—J. F. Hendry, a San Francisco commission merchant, dropped dead at his home, 878 Laurel street last night. An autopsy held this morning showed that the man was suffering from heart trouble.

Hendry came home late last night in good health and it was not known that he had any ailment whatever. His body, falling to the floor, attracted the attention of roomers in the house and they went to his room and found him dead. The dead man's wife is now in Europe. He was about fifty years of age. An inquest will be held Thursday.

FOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE OAKLAND HARBOR

Representatives of California in National Congress Now Are Sure of Success in Getting Appropriation.

A dispatch received by the Chamber of Commerce at a late hour last evening, signed by Senator Perkins and Congressman Knowland, is of incalculable benefit to Oakland. These two representatives have been working assiduously for the appropriation of a sum of money to improve Oakland harbor and have had the assistance of each member of the California delegation.

Several months ago the Oakland Chamber of Commerce passed resolutions requesting certain improvements in Oakland harbor, and they were sent to each representative of California in the National Congress, and to each member of the Rivers and Harbors committee. These resolutions of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce were endorsed by the commercial bodies on both sides of the bay.

The dispatch received last Friday by the Chamber of Commerce stated that Col. W. H. Houder had made a statement to Chairman Burton of the National Rivers and Harbors committee to the effect that the improvement of Oakland harbor was nothing more or less than a real estate scheme. On Saturday last Secretary Stearns wired Congressman Knowland in part as follows:

"Improvements now in and contracted for on Basin amount to more than five million dollars. With exception of Alaska Packers' Association, Hercules Gas Engine company and Dove Pump Works all are on Oakland side of basin. The statement that the proposed improvements is a real estate scheme is absolutely false. Not five hundred feet on Oakland side of basin is purchasable at any price. On entire basin less than ten thousand feet not held by owners now erecting or contemplating erecting manufacturing. These figures include more than four thousand feet owned by Water Front company and railroads."

Sunday another dispatch was sent by Mayor Mott to the effect that the improvement of the harbor was in no sense a real estate scheme and the improvements are absolutely necessary to care for the growing commerce of the city.

Late last night word came from Washington announcing that a representative in Congress had secured in the House River and Harbor bill an appropriation amounting to $365,500, and also re-appropriating an unexpended balance amounting to $199,000. This makes a grand total of $564,500, by far the largest appropriation ever obtained for the improvement of Oakland harbor. The amount, of course, has not yet been voted either by the House or Senate, but judging from the tenor of the following dispatch from Senator Perkins and Congressman Knowland it would look as if there is practically no doubt that the bill will pass both branches of congress.

"We are pleased to report that after numerous recent conferences with Chairman Burton and the War Department we have secured in the House River and Harbor bill, which will probably be reported Thursday, every dollar asked for Oakland harbor. The proposed proviso that after completion property owners must maintain channel would amount to such an infinitesimal sum that it has been eliminated, although we personally expressed our willingness to guarantee such an amount. An attempt was made to insert a provision that the amount appropriated must be sufficient to complete the project asked, but we could not consent, fearing possible controversies.

"The bill is placed again on a continuing contract and authorizes three hundred and sixty-eight thousand five hundred dollars and also re-appropriating unexpended balance of one hundred and sixty-nine thousand dollars, which would otherwise not have been available, making a grand total of five hundred and thirty-seven thousand, five hundred dollars. This is by far the largest appropriation ever obtained. Will write in detail. We rejoice with the people of Alameda county."

(Signed)
"GEORGE C. PERKINS,
"JOSEPH R. KNOWLAND."

FINISH WORK; COMING HOME

San Francisco Insurance Committee Is About to Leave Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The members of the San Francisco committee that came to the continent to secure payment of insurance on losses sustained in the San Francisco earthquake, having in the main accomplished their purpose, are about to leave for England.

The most difficult accomplishment of the committee was compromising with the Austrian Insurance Company, the Phoenix of Vienna and the Trans-Atlantic Fire Insurance Company of Hamburg. It is understood that the Phoenix Company agreed to settle its San Francisco policies at not far from their face value, and that the Trans-Atlantic Company also has agreed to a basis of settlement.

After a Hamburg court, on January 11, decided a test case against the North German Fire Insurance Company, the committee offered to compromise at higher terms than this company was willing to give and, as a result, further litigation will be necessary.

The Rhine and Moselle Company of Strasbourg, which operated with a strong earthquake clause, is making a suit against a settlement.

In the forthcoming trial the broad question will come up to whether the earthquake in San Francisco caused the fire.

Other German companies have agreed to settlements satisfactory to the committee.

OAKLAND'S LATEST AND LARGEST MUSIC HOUSE

The extension and enlargement of the business done by Oakland's prominent houses is being shown daily. Now it's a music house. The H. Hauschildt Music Company have been conducting their business at 615 12th street. For some time past their quarters have been too small, but the ever-increasing demand for buildings in Oakland has stood in their way of finding a new site. The site has finally been secured, however, at 1159 Franklin street, just opposite the Narrow Gauge Depot. It is a new building and the Hauschildt people will use both the first and second floors, which makes their storerooms among the largest on this side of the bay. No higher grading in the future will be brought to the Coast than will now be shown, by this progressive firm. They have received a trainload, which includes, among others, the beautiful Shoniger, which piano, it is said, never fails to realize the fullest degree of the expectations of the purchaser. This house will also handle the well-known Newman Bros. sweet-tone piano, and also the Stadart, Radle, Gordon, Dunham, Leslie Bros. Irving and Schermer.

They will also handle sheet music of every description, and will have "small instrument" department. The department will be complete in every detail, and their stock of sheet music will be kept up to date in every particular.

Another feature will be a phonograph department. In this department the Hauschildt Company will handle and have on display a complete line of Edison phonographs and Victor Talking Machines. No expense will be spared in fitting up the phonograph parlors, and you are cordially invited to this department for a little entertainment and to look over their stock of records.

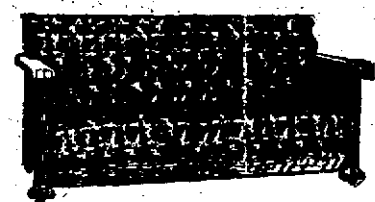

This firm has secured the coast agency for the Standard Electric Piano Player, operated by a coil, and acknowledged one of the highest grade of all electric pianos.

The cost of operating a "Standard" is very small, being the same as for a sixteen-candle power light. Their new "Auto Grand" is powerful on display and is said to eliminate all the difficulty usually confronting the inexperienced piano player.

The Oakland house will be in charge of the general Mr. H. Herman, who was formerly manager of one of the Elfers stores.

If you are interested in music you will want to see the Hauschildt Company's new store.

Graceful skaters will hold sway at the Lakeside rink tonight, when the finals in the two-night contest will be witnessed. Follow the Key Route

¶ In Los Angeles they say: "Follow HENRY HUNTINGTON."

¶ In Berkeley it's "Follow the Key Route."

¶ No one factor has done half as much to build up Berkeley and increase values in the past three years as the Key Route. The yellow cars have peopled bare fields and built business centers at their every stopping point. VALUES JUMP where their whistles blow.

¶ Dwight Way Terrace gives you the chance to profit by the Key Route's coming. For a thousand feet it fronts on Sacramento Street along which the yellow cars will soon be running out to North Berkeley and beyond. For three blocks the new Dwight Way car line touches its southern boundary. And where Dwight Way and Sacramento meet THERE'S TO BE A STATION.

¶ To the home builder this means FAST SERVICE and ONE FARE to San Francisco. To the investor it means the DOUBLING and TREBLING of VALUES.

¶ To you it means BUY IN DWIGHT WAY TERRACE.

¶ And it means BUY NOW.

¶ After the cars are running and the station built you'll be paying today's buyers a profit.

¶ We'll tell you how to make that profit you.
